After Hours Access:

Stigler Health and Wellness Center, Inc. does not take emergency or after-hour calls. Access to the Health and Wellness Center Mental Health professional staff is by appointment. You as the consumer agree to contact local emergency personnel (i.e. 911, police, ambulance, etc.) if you feel you may hurt yourself or someone else, or in the event of any physical, psychological, or other emergency.

Custody or Divorce Actions:

Stigler Health and Wellness Center Inc. therapists do not testify in court regarding custody or divorce actions. Custody evaluations and expert testimony require a specific procedure and relationship with the client that is different from a therapeutic relationship. It is in fact, unethical for the therapist to move from a therapist's role to one of advising the court regarding the fitness of a parent or the child's needs concerning who would be the "best" parent. Should the need arise for this type of evaluation and testimony, we will be happy to refer you to independent psychologists we have found to be expert in this area of service. Because the great risk of malpractice suits and because we do not see it as appropriate to participate in these cases, a minimum fee of $1,500 per half day or less out of the office will be assessed should we be legally required to testify in any court proceeding. We ask that you respect this professional boundary.

Use of Tobacco Policy

Due to the acknowledged hazards arising from the use of tobacco products, it is the policy of Stigler Health and Wellness Center, Inc. to provide a tobacco-free environment for all employees, patients and visitors. H. CONSUMER EXPECTATIONS

- Keep scheduled appointments with all our Clinicians.
- Be prompt for your appointments.
- If you can not make an appointment, give at least 24 hour notice.

Other expectations:

- Upon termination we need at least one session to discuss that decision.

I. HIV/AIDS/STD EDUCATION

HIV is a virus which never leaves the body once it has been contracted. Many viruses stay in the body for only a few days but once a person has tested positive for HIV, he/she will always be positive. HIV actually stands for Human Immunodeficiency Virus and over time it infects and kills white blood cells which help the body fight off certain types of infections and cancers, leaving the body highly susceptible to other illnesses.

Once HIV has progressed far enough that it effectively weakens the body and immune system, the carrier usually becomes ill from one of several infections, such as pneumonia or tuberculosis, that their body and immune system are no longer strong enough to fight. When the HIV virus has progressed this far it is called AIDS, which stands for Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome. The time it takes for HIV to progress into AIDS varies and may take up to 10 years or more.

As is often the case with many sexually transmitted diseases, it is often impossible to tell if someone else has HIV and many carriers do not know that they are infected. Initial symptoms are non-specific, often resembling symptoms of common cold or flu viruses, and may include:

- Fatigue
- Fever
- Rash
- Headache
- Swollen lymph nodes
- Sore throat

These symptoms are not a reliable way to diagnose HIV as they will only occur within days or weeks of the initial exposure. Testing for HIV antibodies is the only way to know whether you have been infected.

The HIV antibody test only works after the immune system of the infected person has been able to develop antibodies. The “window period” between the initial infection and when antibodies are detectable may be from 2 weeks to 6 months. The average “window period” lasts about 3 months and standard HIV testing during this time is ineffective. It is recommended that persons who test negative have additional testing in 6 months in order to rule out this “window period” and obtain an accurate result.

Persons who are engaging in at risk behaviors are more likely to contract HIV and other sexually transmitted diseases than persons who are not. If you or your sexual partner(s) have engaged in any of the following behaviors you are at risk and should be tested.

- Any type of unprotected sexual contact
- Sex with an IV drug user
- History of STDs such as herpes, Chlamydia, gonorrhea or hepatitis.
- Unplanned pregnancy

- Victim of sexual assault
- Passed out after drinking or getting high or been unable to remember what happened
- Shared needles or other equipment which pierces the skin

If you are interested in contacting confidential testing sites at which you and/or your significant other can receive testing for HIV/AIDS and other STDs as well as further education please contact your county Department of Human Services office. If you, your spouse, significant other, or other sexual partners would like to receive educational counseling sessions regarding HIV and other STDs then please notify your primary clinician.
